NEGRO PROBLEM DISCUSSED. Dr. Dickinson Makes a Hit with His Yellow-Dog Story.

In the Maryland Baptist State Conven tion in Baltimore on Friday last the question of the relations of the white Baptists to their colored brethren called forth a reery animated discussion.

Rev. C. L. Laws, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, of Baltimore, said he thanked God for the conference recently held at Old Point between Baptist Isaders of the North and the South, and for the good he was sure would come from it to the colored people of the South, "I think the mistake we have made since the war," he continued, "is treating the negroes too much as children instead of encouraging them to do their own work their own way. Put the responsibility upon them. If we want to help them, let us pay them better for their work, and thus enable them to give their own money to support their own in Loudoun county, Va., where I made to live a negro man gets only about twelve dollars a month as a farm hand. You know that such wages leave very little to be given to religious objects."

FRIEND OF COLORED PEOPLE.

FRIEND OF COLORED PEOPLE. FRIEND OF COLORED PEOPLE.

Rev. F. M. Ellis, D. D.: I think I am the friend of the colored people, and of svery other people. One's color has nothing to do with our obligation to give him the Gospel. We ought to do all in our power to save him, whether he is white, black, or red. The southern whites—the best of them—will not claim that they have done all that they ought to have done to lift their colored brethren. Nor will the best of the latter class claim that they have treated their white brethren in all respects as was wisest and best.

RECOGNIZE THE LEADERS.

Rev. William M. Alexander (colored) said: Let me say a word. I am a hegro, and it is natural and right that I should prefer to be associated with my own race. Dr. Ellis would feel the same way if he were a negro. And as for that Old Point conference, let me say that some of us feel that it does not recognize as it should have done the leaders in our colored organizations. If those in charge of that movement do not take heed to this they may widen the breach and make things worse than they were before that conference. They must not shelve true men, white or colored, who have stood by the negro through all the struggles of past years. But, brethren, there are only a few men that are causing all this alienation and strife. You have it in your power to touch a chord which will bring the white and colored Baptists into the most loving accord, and I pray God that you may do this.

Voice OF A VIRGINIAN.

VOICE OF A VIRGINIAN. VOICE OF A VIRGINIAN.

Rev. A. E. Dickinson, D. D., of Richmond, said: I would not open my mouth but for the reference made by Dr. Laws to the poor prices paid colored laborers by the farmers of Virginia. Brother Laws ought to know that with the poor prices paid the farmers for their products the laborer who works the farm gets more out of it than the man who owns the farm. As I am on my feet, I will say one word more. You see very plainly that dozens of brethren are cager to get the floor, and discuss this negro problem, and it is that way every where. A man may not know anything about any other problems, but when this colored problem comes up he can tell you all about it. It reminds me of a story a friend told me a few days ago. He says he was on a great lightning express train, which was a few days ago. He says he was on a great lightning express train, which was thundering along through mountains and valleys when a little yellow dog appeared on the scene. The dog was bent upon catching the train. You never saw a little yellow dog run faster than that little yellow dog run faster than that little yellow dog ran. An old man who had looked intently upon the chase the yellow dog was making, finally turned to my friend, and, with a bewildered look, asked, "Stranger, can you tell me what that little yellow dog would do with this train if he could catch it?" What are the countless multitudes who are chasing this negro problem going to do with it if they ever get possession of it?

mooratic Victory Predicted for Old schbridge-Ran. Tucker's Rioquest Appeal—Other Orators.

LEXINGTON, VA., November 5 .- (Special.)—The outpour of people to-day from all over the county to hear the final of the present campaign was immense. The enthusiasm and interest displayed has not been seen here for many a campaign. The crowd present was a representative one, and bespeaks a Democratic victory for old Rockbridge. The day was very raw, with a cold north wind, and thermome ter at 44, followed in the afternoon by gusts of snow, sleet, and rain. The Den ocrats commenced speaking in the courthouse at 11 o'clock before a large audience. Hon. William A. Alexander, of Winchester, discussed the present issues in an able and eloquent style. He comnanded the closest attention from his audience for over two hours.

Hon. William A. Anderson followed in Hon. William A. Anderson followed in a brief speech, but with his usual able style discussed the national issues and the Democratic record of the past. Hon. John Randolph Tucker, the old representative of this district in Congress, followed, and was cheered to the echo by the packed house. Mr. Tucker made one of his old-time speeches, and an able appeal to his old constituents to stand to the Democratic standard on the morrow.

The Republicans were engaged at the same time in presenting their side of the question from a platform erected in the court-yard square. W. E. Craig opened, and was followed by Hon. Jacob Yost, who put up his usual harangue. The crowd was a mottled one, and yelled when the string was pulled.

Mr. George Johnson, of Oregon, exmember of the State Senate, now a member of the law class at Washington and Lee University, after repeatedly challenging Mr. Yost to a joint discussion, which was declined, closed the day for the Democrats in a strong and able speech. From a conservative estimate the county will give Tucker 160 majority, including Buena Vista. The Republicans are claiming everything in sight.

DISCRACEFUL SCENES IN STAFFORD. A Republican Mob Attempts to Break Up a Democratic Meeting.

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., November 5 .- (Special.) -A cowardly and dastardly attempt was made by a number of Republicans to break up a Democratic meeting at White Oak, in Stafford county, ing at White Oak, in Stafford county, Saturday night. The meeting had been cailed for the purpose of hearing an andress from State-Senator Little, who, at the appointed hour, was on hand, as was also the Dispatch correspondent, who had accompanied the speaker.

Several times during the day in this city he had been warned that an attempt would be made to prevent him from speaking, but this did not in the least deter him. The Senator had been speaking but a few minutes when the interruptions began. Such as "You won't meet McCail," "You were afraid to come here last Saturday," "Knock his bead off," "You can't speak here," etc. Standing such remarks as long as he meet McCail. Toll were alrian to come here list Saturday," "Knock his head off," "You can't speak here," etc. Standing such remarks as long as he could, he fearlessly denounced them as liars and cowards, and defied them to come forward. The speaking being under trees in the open air, with only a lantern the leaders could not be located, and whenever the lantern was held up they would remain quiet. Finally Senator Little announced that he would resort to other methods if the interruptions were continued, and if they did not want to hear him to leave. The Democrats were now also thoroughly aroused and indignant, and in no uncertain language made it known that it must be stopped. During the interruptions a large stone was thrown in the air, presumably for the thrown in the air, presumably for the purpose of falling on Senator Little's head, but it missed its mark. When order had been restored the speaking continued, and for two hours and ten minutes hot shot was poured into Republi-canism, the woods resounding with cheers from the audience. There were several respectable Republicans present, who se-verely condemned the action of the others. and also stated that after such pro

WOODSTOCK, VA., November 5 .- (Special.)-Politics in Shenandoah are seem ingly at fever-heat. Apparently both parties are well organized. The Democrats are better organized than they have been for some years, and the Republicans are better organized than they have been in many years, for the reason that the Republican candidate for Congress in the Seventh District lives in Shenandoah. Contrary to the impression of those who have not carefully examined the history of elections in this county the past ten years. Shenandoah is a very close county. Your correspondent, in an interview with the chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, drew the inference that he did not expect to carry the county, although he is making every effort for Democratic success. LITTLE CHILDREN.

They Often Suffer Terribly Through ignorance.

UNKNOWN TO PARENTS.

Which Causes Their Little Ones to Have Such Painful Eruptions.

What a common thing it is to see chil-What a common thing it is to see children, many of them small children, who have blotches, sores, and breakings out of various kinds. These troubles are commonly attributed to some disorder or taint of the blood. Formerly the parents gave sulphur and moiasses, more latterly ilmost anything of which they may hear. It is a great mistake to think that these children's troubles arise from diseased blood. It is not true. Their little bodies are not hardened and strong, their diges-tion is not always good, and especially. n nearly every case, are their kidneys and urinary organs weak and often inac-tive. This is the source of their trouble, and parents will realize it if they only and parents will realize it if they only stop to think. How often have you had proofs that your child's kidneys were weak? If the kidneys are not strong and active they do not throw the poisons from the blood, and hence these poisons break out in sores. And yet it is so easy to keep their little bodies in good, healthy condition. Children are usually active and playful, and with a little help, even the slightest assistance, they can be kept healthy and their blood pure.

There is a great preparation, which is the most popular in use to-day, but which has, for some strange reason, been considered principally good for grown-up people. Perhaps this is because it has such unusual power, but while it is true that it is powerful, it is so simple, so harmless, that even a babe can take it without injurious effects. We refer to Warner's Safe Cure, which is a purely vegetable preparation, and wholly harmless in every respect. It acts healthly on the principal organs of the body, but especially on the kidneys and the urinary organs, and its effects can be felt within a few hours. Little children who are ailing, who seem out of sorts, who have eruptions, cannot be curred except by going to the source of the trouble. Read what one mother says:

"At 3 years of age my boy was taken."

says:
"At 3 years of age my boy was taken with kidney trouble of the worst form.
After using everything I could get that I thought would benefit him, and receiving no permanent relief, I was induced to try Warner's Safe Cure. I gave him three bottles of it, and he was completely cured.
He is now 14 years of age, strong and healthy."—Mrs. D. W. Steele, Mexico,

The above shows conclusively the great efficiency of the remedy for both adults or children. It has no equal.
